ESSAY TOPIC: The essay topic will be any “Pre-1910 African American History” as revealed by holdings of Howard University Libraries (HUL) or the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center (MSRC).

ELIGIBILITY: Howard University undergraduate students are invited to participate in the Wilbur Patterson Thirkield Historical Essay Contest.

PRIZES: First Prize - $300
Second Prize - $200
Third Prize - $100

GUIDELINES: Each essay is to be no fewer than 1,500 words (6.5 to 7 pages) or no more than 2,000 words (about 9 pages) in length (excluding the endnotes and bibliography). The essay must be typewritten or computer-generated, double-spaced, on one side only of 8½” X 11” paper. Quotations from other writers are encouraged, but must be acknowledged and should be used with discretion. The title page must have the following:

- The contestant’s name, address, and telephone number
- The name, address, and telephone number of the faculty sponsor
- The name, address and telephone number of the school or college and department represented.

Students are to seek the support of a faculty member in developing their historical essays.

Research must involve the use of the materials in Founders Library and/or the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center. Information must come from a reliable source (magazine/book/newspaper/manuscript/report, etc.) and the student must acknowledge the author and publisher.

Students must follow the format and documentation style of their discipline, i.e., The Chicago Manual of Style or Modern Language Association (MLA), etc. Guidelines for citations are available by clicking here.

The essay may be hand-delivered, mailed, or submitted electronically as noted below under “Deadline.”

JUDGING: Each essay will be judged according to the following criteria:
Originality

The essay contributes to an original interpretation of “Pre-1910 African American History” as revealed by holdings of Howard University Libraries (HUL) or the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center (MSRC).

Scholarship

The essay exhibits the use and interpretation of expert and varied primary and secondary resources.

Composition

The essay is well-written in accordance with standard English procedures (correct punctuation, spelling, and grammar), logically composed, and presented in accordance with all entry format rules.

Bibliography

The bibliography includes Howard University: The Capstone of Negro Education by Walter Dyson and Howard University: The First Hundred Years, 1867-1967, by Rayford L. Logan. (Portions of these books, which correlate to “Pre-1910 History of Howard University,” will be accessible under “Course Reserves” on the website for Howard University Libraries.)

The winning essays will be chosen by a panel composed of faculty, staff, and student representatives of Howard University. Dr. Paula Whetsel-Ribeau, Honorary Chair of the Board of Directors of the Friends of the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center and the University Libraries, will announce the winners at the 15th Annual Faculty Authors Reception. This program will be held in the Browsing Room of The Founders Library on Tuesday, April 19, 2011, at 5:30 P.M.

DEADLINE: Entries must be submitted on or before midnight on Friday, April 1st, 2011. Copies may be sent electronically by clicking here Thirkield Essay Contest or mailing to the following address:

ABOUT THE THIRKIELD ENDOWMENT

Wilbur Patterson Thirkield served as the ninth president of Howard University from September 1906 to September 1912. The Thirkield Administration is most notable for its attainment of Howard University’s first library building, the Carnegie Building, and the development of sciences and Thirkield Hall. Thirkield was also notable for his work as a Methodist minister.

The Thirkield Endowment was established by the Pamela Lavin Thirkield, the granddaughter of former President Thirkield, in appreciation of historical research conducted at Howard University which reveals the extensive work on the part of former President Thirkield, his administration and the Board of Trustees over a four-year period to attain the University’s first library building in 1910.

The purpose of the “Wilbur Patterson Thirkield Historical Essay Contest” is to encourage undergraduate students of all disciplines to explore a “Pre-1910” topic of history that demonstrates the players and key events in Howard’s past.

It is hoped that the topic chosen will stimulate the thinking and inspire the actions of young people at Howard University, who will assume responsibility for affairs on local, state, national, and international levels in the future.
