“Civil Rights, Civil Duties
in the Pursuit of Family,
Happiness and Peace”

Howard University and The KingMaker Foundation

Conference and Prayer Breakfast
April 25-26, 2008

“Passing the torch from the civil rights leaders to the next generation”

Sponsors

Howard University
Howard University, African Studies Department
The KingMaker Foundation
The KingMaker Magazine
The Washington Times Foundation
Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.
Washington AIDS International Foundation

For more information call 1-866-939-KING
www.civilduties.org
Indeed, we are living in the time of “the winds of change,” where the betterment of humankind can happen in a shorter amount of time.

This generation of young African Americans born in the 21st century live in a time when iPods and cell phones are commonplace instruments. From an early age they are technologically savvy and literate. They will hold higher positions than any of their predecessors in American history.

This conference will evoke a time of change, urging young leaders of today to become empowered to take the lead and take this country to a new level.

The conference will be held April 25-26, 2008 at Howard University, where prominent civil rights leaders will pass on their efforts and fruits of the Civil Rights Movement to the new emerging young leaders of today. This will mark an era of moving past the struggle for civil rights to an era of the fulfillment of “civil duties.”

On Friday, April 25, 2008, the conference will begin with a plenary session and video presentation, then transition into panel discussions focusing on the issues of civil rights, “civil duties,” the plight of the Black family and peace. Lunch will be provided.

Speakers and panelists include:

- Mr. Harry Belafonte
- Ms. Dorothy Cotton
- Hon. Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy
- Dr. Curtis Harris
- Dr. Dorothy I. Height
- Mr. James L. Larson
- Rev. Joseph E. Lowery
- Dr. Milton A. Reid
- Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth
- Rev. C. T. Vivian
- Amb. Andrew J. Young
- Dr. Wyatt Tee Walker

The conference will conclude on April 26, 2008 with a prayer breakfast and a Martin Luther King, Jr. memorial service. The memorial service will take place at the National Mall in Washington, DC.

Laptop Giveaway
Raffle drawing will be held at the conclusion of the Prayer Breakfast.

Student Essay Contest
The winner of The KingMaker magazine student essay contest, “Untold Stories of History,” will be awarded a scholarship in the amount of $1,000 at the conference. Essay contest entries are to be emailed to: untoldstoriesessay@kingmakermag.com or mailed to The KingMaker Foundation.